

Development and the Learning Organisation

Oxfam GB, Oxfam America, and the Institute of Development Studies

Oxfam GB, founded in 1942, is a development, humanitarian, and campaigning agency dedicated to finding lasting solutions to poverty and suffering around the world. Oxfam believes that every human being is entitled to a life of dignity and opportunity, and it works with others worldwide to make this become a reality.

From its base in Oxford, UK, Oxfam GB publishes and distributes a wide range of books and other resource materials for development and relief workers, researchers, campaigners, schools and colleges, and the general public, as part of its programme of advocacy, education, and communications.

Oxfam GB is a member of Oxfam International, a confederation of 12 agencies of diverse cultures and languages which share a commitment to working for an end to injustice and poverty – both in long-term development work and at times of crisis.

For further information about Oxfam's publishing, and online ordering, visit www.oxfam.org.uk/publications

For further information about Oxfam's development, advocacy, and humanitarian relief work around the world, visit www.oxfam.org.uk

Oxfam America is an international agency committed to developing lasting solutions to poverty, hunger, and social injustice. We achieve results through long-term partnerships with groups in poor communities that are already working successfully toward these goals, as well as through informed advocacy for policy changes that will improve the lives of poor people around the world.

Oxfam America works collectively with other members of Oxfam International, fighting poverty and related injustice around the world. Oxfam America is also committed to an extensive educational agenda that reaches all segments of the population – particularly young people. By informing Americans about the daily realities of poor communities as they are linked to economic and social policies, Oxfam seeks to expand public awareness of the injustices of poverty and to develop a citizen's movement dedicated to its eradication.

For further information, visit www.oxfamamerica.org

The Institute of Development Studies (IDS) is one of the world's leading centres for research and teaching on development. The Institute holds an international reputation for the quality of its work and the intellectual rigour with which it applies academic skills to real-world policy challenges. In all sectors of its work, IDS aims to stimulate debate and influence the way people think about international development.

For further information, visit www.ids.ac.uk

Development and the Learning Organisation

Essays from Development in Practice

Edited by
Laura Roper, Jethro Pettit, and Deborah Eade

A Development in Practice Reader

Series Editor
Deborah Eade

First published by Oxfam GB in association with Oxfam America and IDS in 2003.

© Oxfam GB 2003

ISBN 0 85598 4708

A catalogue record for this publication is available from the British Library.

All rights reserved. Reproduction, copy, transmission, or translation of any part of this publication may be made only under the following conditions:

- with the prior written permission of the publisher; or
- with a licence from the Copyright Licensing Agency Ltd., 90 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 9HE, UK, or from another national licensing agency; or
- for quotation in a review of the work; or
- under the terms set out below.

This publication is copyright, but may be reproduced by any method without fee for teaching purposes, but not for resale. Formal permission is required for all such uses, but normally will be granted immediately. For copying in any other circumstances, or for re-use in other publications, or for translation or adaptation, prior written permission must be obtained from the publisher, and a fee may be payable.

Available from:

Bournemouth English Book Centre, PO Box 1496, Parkstone, Dorset, BH12 3YD, UK
tel: +44 (0)1202 712933; fax: +44 (0)1202 712930; email: oxfam@becb.co.uk

USA: Stylus Publishing LLC, PO Box 605, Herndon, VA 20172-0605, USA
tel: +1 (0)703 661 1581; fax: +1 (0)703 661 1547; email: styluspub@aol.com

For details of local agents and representatives in other countries, consult our website:
www.oxfam.org.uk/publications

or contact Oxfam Publishing, 274 Banbury Road, Oxford OX2 7DZ, UK
tel: +44 (0)1865 311 311; fax: +44 (0)1865 312 600; email: publish@oxfam.org.uk

Our website contains a fully searchable database of all our titles, and facilities for secure on-line ordering.

The Editor and Management Committee of Development in Practice acknowledge the support given to the journal by affiliates of Oxfam International, and by its publisher, Carfax, Taylor & Francis. The views expressed in this volume are those of the individual contributors, and not necessarily those of the Editor or publisher.

Published by Oxfam GB, 274 Banbury Road, Oxford OX2 7DZ, UK.

Printed by Information Press, Eynsham.

Oxfam GB is a registered charity, no. 202 918, and is a member of Oxfam International.

Contents

Contributors x

Preface xv

Deborah Eade

Development and the Learning Organisation: an introduction 1

Laura Roper and Jethro Pettit

Section 1:

Power, culture, and gender: challenges to organisational learning

Operationalising bottom-up learning in international NGOs: barriers and alternatives 22

Grant Power, Matthew Maury, and Susan Maury

Should development agencies have Official Views? 40

David Ellerman

Engendering organisational practice in NGOs: the case of Utthan 58

Sara Ahmed

Organisational learning: a borrowed toolbox? 76

David Kelleher and the Gender at Work Collective

Making the organisation learn: demystification and management action 89

Vijay Padaki

Section 2:

Learning together: multi-institutional initiatives

Achieving successful academic–practitioner research collaborations

110

Laura Roper

Knowledge to action: evaluation for learning in a multi-organisational global partnership 121

Marla J. Solomon and A. Mushtaque R. Chowdhury

Guest learning and adaptation in the field: a Navajo case study 132

Gelaye Debebe

Can bilateral programmes become learning organisations?

Experiences from institutionalising participation in Keiyo Marakwet in Kenya 152

Samuel Musyoki

Section 3:

Levels of learning: organisational case studies

A chocolate-coated case for alternative international business models 169

Pauline Tiffen

Learning leaders: the key to learning organisations 190

John Hailey and Rick James

Leading learning and change from the middle: reconceptualising strategy's purpose, content, and measures 205

Colin Beckwith, Kent Glenzer, and Alan Fowler

The struggle for organisational change – how the ActionAid Accountability, Learning and Planning System emerged 225

Patta Scott-Villiers

Heifer International: growing a learning organisation 242

Thomas S. Dierolf, Rienzzie Kern, Tim Ogborn, Mark Protti, and Marvin Schwartz

'New learning in old organisations': children's participation in a school-based nutrition project in western Kenya 261

Charles Ogoye-Ndegwa, Dominic Abudho, and Jens Aagard-Hansen

Organisational learning in NGOs: an example of an intervention based on the work of Chris Argyris 277

Didier Bloch and Nora Borges

Section 4:

Learning from humanitarian action

Mainstreaming disaster mitigation: challenges to organisational learning in NGOs 294

John Twigg and Diana Steiner

The learning process of the Local Capacities for Peace Project 303

Marshall Wallace

Humanitarian principles and organisational culture: everyday practice in Médecins Sans Frontières-Holland 316

Dorothea Hilhorst and Nadja Schmiemann

Section 5:

Ways and means: tools and methods for learning and change

Perceptions and practices of monitoring and evaluation: international NGO experiences in Ethiopia 332

Esther Mebrahtu

Learning from complexity: the International Development Research Centre's experience with Outcome Mapping 356

Sarah Earl and Fred Carden

Modelling learning programmes 366

Molly den Heyer

Learning for change: the art of assessing the impact of advocacy work 373

Barry Coates and Rosalind David

Resources 388

Leading experts in the field 388

Books 391

Journals 403

Organisations, networks, and websites 405

Addresses of publishers 410

Index 412